THE design of the General Dispensary is to administer advice and medicines to the poor, not only at the Dispensary, but also at their own habitations; which latter circumstance is an advantage peculiar to this plan. And, notwithstanding the many excellent charities, already subsisting, for relief of the sick, in and about this great metropolis; yet, when it is considered how many poor, from the nature of their circumstances and disorders, are still necessarily confined to their wretched dwellings, and perish through want of proper assistance, the utility of this Institution becomes obvious.

This Charity has proved particularly serviceable to such poor labouring families, as have not ability to assist themselves when visited with illness, and yet are willing to exert their utmost endeavours for support in sickness, as well as in health. What pleasure must it therefore afford the benevolent and humane, to step in to their assistance at this critical time of distress, and to be, under Providence, the happy instruments of relieving these poor objects from their various afflictions!

This Charity extends also to the diseases of children; as it is too evident, that many of these, under a variety of slight maladies which affect their tender frames, are, by neglect, or improper treatment, totally lost to the publick; or, if they survive, become useless, if not burthen some, members of the community. It is a melancholy truth, that near half the number born in London die under two years of age.

The subscription is fixed low, with a view to render the Charity more extensive, and to give the industrious poor an easy opportunity of obtaining recommendations from their benevolent neighbours, on the earliest attack of sickness; and thereby of receiving immediate help, before their diseases have acquired that degree of violence, which indigence and delay must necessarily occasion.

The promoters of this undertaking therefore flatter themselves, that the humanity and importance thereof will sufficiently recommend it: they rejoice in the encouragement it hath already received, and doubt not its continuing to meet with that attention from the publick, which the nature and utility of the Institution so deservedly claim,

RULES AND ORDERS.

RULE I. THE Charity consists of a President, four Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Governors, together with such officers and servants as are from time to time thought necessary.

II. All persons paying one guinea or more annually, to the support of this Charity, are Governors as long as they continue such contribution, and may have one patient on the books at a time, for each guinea subscribed.

III. All persons giving ten guineas at one time, or contributing to that amount within the year, are Governors for life, who have the liberty of having two patients on the books at a time.

IV. Upon the payment of a legacy of fifty pounds or upwards to this Charity, the person paying the same becomes a Governor for life.

V. A Governor, by sending notice in writing to the Dispensary, may appoint any other Governor to sign his letters of recommendation.

VI. A Quarterly General Meeting is held on the second Wednesday in the months of March, June, September, and December, at which Meeting nine Governors constitute a board.

VII. The President, a Vice-President, or the Treasurer, may call a General Meeting at any other time, giving at least one week's notice by advertisement in three of the daily papers: if the Monthly Committee require a General Meeting, it is to be called in like manner.

VIII. The particular business for which an extraordinary meeting is called, is to be expressed in the advertisement, and entered upon and determined at such Meeting, immediately after reading and disposing of the minutes of the last General Meeting.

IX. At the General Meetings in June and December, a Committee of twenty-seven Governors, three of whom are a Quorum, is chosen to meet at the Dispensary, on the last Wednesday in every month, for conducting the ordinary affairs of the Charity; at which Committee all Governors for life may attend and vote.

X. The Committee, at every Monthly Meeting, are to chuse from among themselves, twelve to attend at the Dispensary as House-Visitors for the ensuing month.

XI. At the last meeting of the Committee in May and November, they are to consider of, and recommend, proper persons to succeed them as a Committee (in which not more than thirteen of the old Committee are to remain) for the ensuing half year, and at their last meeting in

in every quarter, prepare the business to be laid before the General Quarterly Meeting.

XII. The President, Vice-Presidents, and Treasurer, are members of all Committees.

XIII. At the Quarterly General Meeting in December, a Committee of five Governors is appointed to audit the Treasurer's accounts for that year.

XIV. All such Governors as practise physic, surgery, or pharmacy, or are conversant in the knowledge of drugs, are a standing medical Committee, to inspect the drugs and medicines, examine the bills for the same, and report thereon, as they see occasion, to the Monthly Committee; any three of such Governors to be a Quorum.

XV. There is an Anniversary Dinner between the first day of February, and the thirtieth of April, on a day appointed by the Monthly Committee, when a state of the Charity is laid before the Governors.

XVI. No bye-law, rule, or order, whether proposed at a General Meeting, or at a Committee, is binding, or has any force or effect, until the same is agreed to and confirmed by the next succeeding General Meeting, whether Quarterly or Extraordinary; and the same method is observed in the altering or repealing any such bye-law, rule, or order, after they shall have been so confirmed.

XVII. Every election of officers and servants of the Charity (except such servants as have been usually appointed by the Monthly Committee) is by ballot, and determined in one day, between the hours of ten in the forenoon, and three in the afternoon: and all other affairs and business of the Charity transacted at any General Meeting, and all questions arising thereupon, are decided by vote. The act or opinion of the majority of the Governors, so balloting or voting, is conclusive and binding.

XVIII. Not more than six weeks, nor less than three, is allowed from the declaration of any vacancy at a General Meeting to the election.

XIX. Nobility, Members of Parliament, and Ladies, may vote at any election by another Governor, as Proxy, authorized in writing.

XX. No new Governor can vote at any election, but such as shall have paid his subscription four days previous to the commencement of the ballot.

XXI. No person can vote on any question for the making, repealing, or altering of any law, rule, or order of this Charity, who hath not been a Governor six calendar months.

XXII. No

XXII. No person can vote on any question in which he is interested.

XXIII. In all cases of an equality of ballots or votes, the Chairman for the time being is entitled to a second, or casting, ballot or vote.

XXIV. No servant of the Charity is to take of any tradesman, patient, or others, any reward or gratuity, directly or indirectly, on pain of being immediately discharged.

XXV. The servants of the Charity are to attend the General Meetings and Committees, to give such information, and do such business as may be required.

MONTHLY COMMITTEE.

They conduct the ordinary affairs of the Charity, and whenever they judge proper to propose any new regulations, lay the same before the next General Meeting for confirmation.

They examine all tradesmens accounts, and order payment of such as appear proper.

They appoint a day for an Anniversary Dinner, and make choice of Stewards for providing the same, in default of the preceding Stewards naming successors.

HOUSE

HOUSE VISITORS.

Two of them attend every forenoon at the Dispensary, during the hours of business, to see that the regulations of the Charity are carried into execution, and report to the next Monthly Committee such matters as they judge necessary.

PHYSICIANS.

One of the Physicians attends at the Dispensary at nine o'clock every day (Sundays excepted) to give advice to such out-patients as come properly recommended, and afterwards visits the home patients at the places of their abode, as the case may require.

By out-patients are meant such as are able to attend the Dispensary; by home-patients such as are not able to attend, and who live within the City of London, or liberties thereof.

If any of the Physicians, from indisposition, be incapable of attending, one of the other Physicians is to attend in his room; and no Physician is to absent himself from any other cause, without one of the other Physicians engaging to officiate in his stead.

They have liberty for their pupils to attend them in the business of the Charity, but the pupils are not to prescribe for the patients.

SURGEONS.

S U R G E O N S.

One of the Surgeons attends at the Dispensary at ten o'clock every day (Sundays excepted) for the purpose of examining and relieving out-patients, and afterwards visits the home-patients at their own habitations.

The same regulations are to be observed in case of the indisposition or absence of a Surgeon, as are before-mentioned with respect to the Physicians.

They have liberty for their pupils to attend them in the business of the Charity, but the pupils are not to perform any operation, unless by the direction, or in the presence, of one of the Surgeons.

No capital operation is to be performed, but by the advice and consent of a majority of the Physicians and Surgeons.

The Physicians and Surgeons hold consultations on all difficult cases.

A P O T H E C A R Y.

He constantly resides at the Dispensary, to compound and dispense the medicines prescribed by the Physicians and Surgeons, delivering therewith a printed or written order or label. He is to enter the tradesmens bills in the ledger, and keep the accounts respecting the same; but but not during the hours of attendance of the Physicians and Surgeons.

He is to take care of the medicines, utensils, and other effects of the Dispensary, and that none be wasted, spoiled, or embezzled.

He is allowed one or more persons to assist him in his business, under such restrictions, and at such allowance, as the Monthly Committee judge proper.

He is not to absent himself from the Dispensary, on any account whatever, without leaving a note where he may be found, or taking care that one of his assistants be there until he returns: nor is he to be absent one whole day or night, without leave from the President, a Vice-President, the Treasurer, or Monthly Committee; and in such case, he is to procure another Apothecary to officiate, to be approved of by the persons giving him such leave.

He is not to practise as an Apothecary, except in the business of the Charity.

He is to be present at all Meetings and Committees, at the hours appointed, unless necessarily prevented, in which case he is to send a deputy.

He

He is to keep the proceedings of the Charity in a methodical manner, and in proper books, and do all such business as is requisite, and commonly done by the Secretaries at other Charities.

HOUSE - CLERK.

He is to keep a regular list of the Governors of the Charity, and attend at the Dispensary during the hours of business, to receive all letters of recommendation; to examine whether the person recommending is intitled so to do; and to keep a register of the patients under cure, specifying the time of admission, on whose recommendation, whether home or out patients, and under which Physician's or Surgeon's care received; and to furnish the patients when discharged with letters of thanks.

He is to make out rotation-lists, and summonses, for the House-Visitors, to be delivered by the Messenger.

He is to collect the tradesmens bills, and lay them before the Monthly Committee.

He is from time to time to enter the names of the subscribers, and their payments, in the book kept for that purpose.

COLLECTOR

COLLECTOR and MESSENGER.

He is to find two securities, to be approved of by the Monthly Committee, who are to be bound with him in a bond of five hundred pounds, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

He is to keep a complete list of the Governors, and regularly collect the subscriptions to the Charity as they become due, and pay the same to the Treasurer on the last Wednesday in every Month, or oftener if required. In case of the absence of the Treasurer, he is to pay the money to one of the Bankers of the Charity.

He is to deliver all summonses, letters, and messages, and attend all General Meetings and Committees.

RULES to be observed by the PATIENTS.

1. No persons are deemed objects of this Charity, but such as are really necessitous.

2. The Dispensary is open for the reception of commendatory letters, and admission of patients, every day, (Sundays excepted) at nine o'clock.

3. The patients are to continue to attend the Physician or Surgeon who first received them under his care.

4. All

4. All patients, without restriction, who come properly recommended, are prescribed for; but no patients are visited at their own habitations, except such as reside within the city of London, or the liberties thereof.

5. If any patient neglect to attend the Physician or Surgeon at the Dispensary for ten Days, such patient is to be discharged.

6. The patients are to keep their letters under cover, in order to preserve them clean, and at the end of every month to get them resigned by the same Governor.

7. The patients requiring only a repetition of the medicines, are to apply for them between the hours of four o'clock in the afternoon, and seven in the evening.

8. Home-patients are always to send their letters of recommendation by some proper person to the Dispensary, on the days of the Physician's or Surgeon's attendance under whose care they are.

9. The patients are to furnish themselves with phials, &c. necessary to contain their medicines; they are to behave themselves decently and soberly, and to conform strictly to such rules as are given them, or be immediately dismissed.

10. The patients, when cured, are to deliver their letters of recommendation at the Dispensary, penfary, and receive a letter of thanks, which they are to deliver to the Governor who recommended them: on neglect thereof, they are not to be admitted to any future benefit from this Charity.

All complaints respecting patients are to be made by a Governor, to the House-Visitors, who attend at the Dispensary every Day, and who are to rectify the same, if in their power; or refer such complaints to the consideration of the Monthly Committee.
